The Code

Sunday School, I don't know about you, but I'm tired of hearing the clamor about the "Da Vinci Code". Forget the fact that it is a so-so movie. Forget the fact that it is based on a book that is admittedly fiction. Why are some churches and religious leaders so bent out of shape and even going so far as to say their followers should boycott the movie?

Statements coming from clergy saying things like, "This rocks the foundation of Christian belief," are far more bizarre than the movie. Did "Night of the Living Dead" rock Christian belief as people rose from the dead and walked around? How about movies with aliens?

It's hard for me to judge whether or not Jesus being married would destroy Christian beliefs. What's easy to judge is that this is a work of fiction. There's no evidence from the writings of Jesus' time that he was married.

How much can we read into Da Vinci's "Last Supper"? It's a work of art, and one that was painted in 1498. Leonardo certainly wasn't there. Is there a "V" between Jesus and the person seated at his right? Is that person Mary? If we want to take the painting at face value, why would a group of people celebrating a Passover Seder be seated on one side of a table as if they were the head table at a convention? Because, obviously, this is a work of art.

I have to think that our churches and religious leaders have more important things to do than act as a PR department for a movie.

Summer...

Growing up as a kid back east, the start of summer was always the 4th of July, as school wasn't over until late June. Here, the start of summer is Memorial Day, even though school trickles on for a few days beyond that. You all know I'm not a fan of this schedule, but it does give us the advantage of taking a vacation before the schools on either coast get out. And with our current hotter than normal temperatures, it's easy to make a case that this is truly summer.

No matter when summer starts and ends, our climate here really demands that our schools have air conditioning. Too much precious teaching time is being lost to classrooms that are so hot that productivity is close to nil. I don't have any actual figures on what air conditioning would cost, but I would bet that we could pay for it with $50 a year or less per household in additional taxes. We need to give this some serious thought.

And while you're barbecuing or shopping this Memorial Day weekend, take a moment and remember those that sacrificed to make this country and the world a better place. Remember to put out Old Glory too!

PERSPECTIVE by Jon Heaton, Tribune editor

When fantasies fail, retire on Social Security...

Tuesday evening, Frontline (PBS) presented an overview of the retirement situation in America. Pretty grim. The bankruptcy laws are working beautifully to get our major corporations out from under their contractual agreements with their employees.

After all, the reasoning goes, these major companies can't get along without overpaid executives. And this is true, under the rules by which we play the game. The rules made up by the corporate executives and financiers.

For example, Frontline pointed to the 401k plan which millions of workers are urged to depend upon for their retirement. The 401k was originally a perque slipped into a tax law by Congress about 30 years ago to help corporate executives hide some of their easy money from the taxman.

The conclusion: 401k as a pension package is a joke. It is estimated by those experts interviewed by Frontline that workers are setting aside about 10 percent of their income (including employer contributions).

The truth is that this country is run by folks who are busy tearing down the middle class, not building it up. These capitalists understand that only the beat and downtrodden will work for cheap wages.

I can hear some conservative right now saying, "Jon, you're playing the class warfare game. That mule has been ridden to death in another era." In fact, that's almost exactly what a reactionary Senator said to a liberal Senator in debate last week.

Our advice: get used to being poor. It's not painful. All that hurts is listening to those of our neighbors who preach the gospel of "working hard and playing the game by the rules."

Remember, the GOPpers love us and they want to protect us from those very dangerous illegal immigrants (except the millions they need for cheap labor).

So, right now, the GOPpers are trying to turn the middle-income voter against Mexicans and Orientals. That's right, they are playing the race card, but with a twist: they're trying to convince black as well as white voters that these immigrants (and overseas workers) are stealing their jobs.

So, while the Republicanrats are whipping up another fall election victory, what are the Demcats up to? Sadly, they are still struggling to find a way to win by pretending that socialism is dead.

Remember, the GOPpers love us and they want to protect us from those very dangerous illegal immigrants (except the millions they need for cheap labor). Maybe the building of their Swiss Iron Curtain will create some more construction jobs, too.

So, while the Republicanrats are whipping up another fall election victory, what are the Demcats up to? Sadly, they are still struggling to find a way to win by pretending that socialism is dead.

The Russians never gave socialism a chance because they are in love with dictatorship and slavery. The Chinese never got close to a just society because they, too, have always favored tyranny.
